HON. JOHN K. TENER TENDERS RESIGNATION AS PRESIDENT OF NATIONAL BASEBALL LEAGUE

The baseball muddle between President John K. Tener of the National League and President Ban B. Johnson of the American League over the Scott Perry case resulted in the resignation of Mr. Tener from the National League at New York yesterday. He has served at the head of the older major league organization since December 10, 1913. His successor has not been named, but Secretary John A. Heydler will probably serve as president until the annual election of the body in the fall. The naming of Mr. Tener's successor will undoubtedly result in another squabble between the club owners. The logical man for the place is Secretary Heydler, but the league failed to name him after he had served out the unfinished term of the late Harry C. Pulliam in 1909.

When President Tener refused to serve on the National Commission unless the American League decided to abide by the awarding of player Scott Perry to the Boston Braves, it was foregone conclusion that the National League president would step down. Scott is now with the Philadelphia Athletics and when the National Commission awarded him to Boston, Manager Mack got out an injunction restraining the National League from taking the player. This was the first time since the beginning of the National Commission that its verdicts had ever been appealed to the courts.

When President Tener threw down the gauntlet to Johnson by refusing to serve on the commission unless the Athletics gave up Perry, he expected that his club owners would stand behind him. Instead some of them sided with Johnson and a disruption in the National League ranks resulted. As it stands today, the league is in very topsy condition.

John Kinley Tener of Charleroi, was the eighth man to be elected president of the National Baseball league. He was chosen as the executive officer of that organization in December, 1913, and the constitution of the league was amended so that his term of office was extended to four years. In December, 1917, he was re-elected for one year with the understanding that he could devote a great deal of his time to a new commercial enterprise, of which he had just assumed control.

Railroads May Eliminate all Liquor Service

The railroad administration is considering abolishing the sale of liquor on all railroad property, including dining cars and hotels or restaurants maintained at stations. Information on the number of bars and the method by which they are managed is being gathered.

MONESSEN MOTOR GIRLS' GOOD WORK

The Monongahela Motor Messenger Service organized in Monessen has progressed very rapidly in the past two months. Many girls from Lock Four, Charleroi and West Newton have joined and others expect to. Mrs. Motz, the captain, being away for the summer, First Lieutenant Miss Wikstrom has taken charge. The girls are busy with Red Cross work nearly every day. During the Third Liberty Loan War Saving Stamps and Red Cross drives, the girls were a great help, especially in canvassing the rural districts. Each week one of the girls takes a knitting instructor to the Fels church district to teach the women to knit. Some of the them have been on duty at seven o'clock in the morning and others as late as eleven at night. One girl never goes alone and they are always properly chaperoned. They are learning repair work at the Philips garage. The total number of miles that has been traveled is 1,100.

When the service is fully organized, they expects to buy a small truck for the heavier work. Any donations will be very gladly received. The girls expect to give a select dance about the last of August.

Jack Reed Promoted to Gas Instructor

Mrs. John Reed of 443 Reed avenue, has received an interesting letter from her son Jack now attached to Troop M. Ft. Riley, Kansas. Jack has been appointed a non-commissioned officer of his troop and is now under instruction of Capt. Fere of the British Commission, as Corporal and Gas Instructor. Every day he puts on his gas mask and takes a trip through poisonous gasses and tear gas.

It is certainly an honor to be made a non-commisisoned gas man as in the whole regiment there will only be about 25 gas instructors.

Young Reed's athletic training has given him an adaptibility to war preparation and his promotion is due to the great interest he has manifested since joining the army recruits. The many friends here of the young man will rejoice along with his parents at this substantial mark of recognition.

Vaudeville at Star

Mr. McShane has procured three big vaudeville acts for next Thursday and Friday in conjunction with feature pictures. The regular vaudeville matinee will be run at 2:30 o'clock. Evening at 7:45 and 9:30. Admission for matinees will be 11c and 17c. Evening 11c and 22c. 1t

ONE SOLDIER KILLED, ONE INJURED

H. L. Lamb of the California Sentinel, has received a telegram stating that his son, Lieut. Levi Lamb with the American Army in France, had been seriously wounded in action on July 18. Lieut. Lamb is a graduate of State college where he was a member of the football team. He got his commission at Fort Niagara last spring and has been in France for several months.

Frank Paff, aged 23, private in the Tenth Field Artillery, was killed at Chateau-Thierry, July 15, according to a telegram received by the soldier's brother, John Paff of Brownsville. Paff enlisted June 27, 1917, and embarked for France April 27, 1918.

A PLEASING SHOWER FOR NEWLY-WEDS

A miscellaneous shower was held last evening at the hom of Mr. and Mrs. Al Knight, 34 Linden avenue, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William James Yoxall. Mrs. Yoxall will be remembered as Miss Catherine Davies. The even took more the form of a surprise party to the newly weds, who were expecting to accompany Mr. J. J. Golding and family to Belle Vernon. But to start for one point and arrive at another has always been the chief besetting fault of John J., the party after a time pulled up at the Knight home.

Following the general custom the event started out as a miscellaneous shower, but later assumed in general aspect that of a "Tin Shower," not wholly on account of Al's Ford, but for other convincing reasons, not the least of which was the appearance of the front lawn the morning after. One other reason is equally convincing, but as it is customary during the present hot spell to charge so much to climatic conditions, we will likewise leave some to the imagination merely stating that all present had a most enjoyable time socially and a very delightful lunch was served with cooling refreshments to the delight of all. Among the guests were six relatives, about 40 friends and—three Fords.

Band Benefit For the Red Cross Fund

The Monessen Slovak band of which Mr. Michael Kudlac is the director, held a dance on August 3, for the benefit of the American Red Cross. The affair was both a social and financial success, and the proceeds which amounted to $56 25 were turned into the local chapter.

GREAT FEATURE PAGE MAKES ITS INITIAL IN TODAYS ISSUE "GROW WITH THE TOWN"

Today the Independent presents the start of a great feature of reasons backed by advertising of the local industries, banks, merchants and others. This page is one of the greatest comunity boosters that ever appeared in any newspaper and if the reasons that will be set forth herein from time to time are studied and practiced, the wealth of Monessen will increase and every individual who has planted a dollar in the community will be benefitted. Labor conditions have always been the richest here. There has been a wealth of opportunity for the business man and investor and all of those who have kept their dollars in the town have been blessed in abundance by rich increases in property values. There are today as good, sound and substantial investments as ever before in the history of the town and there is no sound judgment in sending the dollars broadcast across the land when the home town offers greater opportunities and safer places for money. There is not a man who ever invested in real estate here who can point to a wrecked fortune. The town has very few business failures to its discredit. Our great mills are a credit to the nation's industry. They come forth at every call and no panic in the history of the country ever stopped our wheels from rolling out their trainloads of steel. The man who fails to content himself here, the man who cannot find the kind of work he wants to perform has no place in the workshops of America and he is a sluggard along the march to progress.

There is not one reason why any live business cannot grow with Monessen, and build a bigger and more profitable business. Some of our business men came here short in cash but long in ambition and as a resule today there stands a monument of commercial enterprise that is a credit to the community. The feature that starts today calls attention to the great possibilities of the town and gives reasons why every person should trade in the home town and grow with the home town. Read carefully all these reasons and the accompanying advertisements.

Nonthly Meet of Council This Evening

Council will meet this evening to transact the regular monthly business. Some important matters will likely come up for consideration and discussion. It is believed that steps will be taken to economize in several departments and save the tax duplicate to the extent of several thousand dollars. It is likely that no engineering department will be maintained during the period of the war as there is now no engineering to be done, and the street department is in for a thorough revolutionizing and these changes mean a big saving to the taxpayers.

Steps have already been taken for condemnation proceedings for a permanent garbage site and the date of the hearing has been set. Regular monthly routine business will be transacted but on account of the hot weather, the session is expected to be short.

Bible Class Held Pleasing Social Event

A business meeting of the Ladies' Adult Bible class of the U. B. church was held last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Moffat at Essen. An invitation had been extended to the Brotherhood of that church, and a goodly number of men of that organization took advantage of a cool spot and escorted their wives to the place of enjoyment. Mothers, fathers, wives, husbands and sweethearts mingled together as one grand big family, there being no distinction one way or another and it was one big round of pleasure and fun. The mothers and fathers forgot for a few hours the distressing weather and responsibilities they have, and played together as of old, and all made themselves feel that they were young again.

The devotional exercises were conducted by Miss Russel, and were very impressive, singing the Star Spangled Manner as an opening song. The lawn was decorated in flags and bunting and during the evening a lunch was served. About fifty guests were present.

"Duck Boards" to Beat the Mud.

When the allied forces in Flanders are not battling with the Germans they are trying to outwit nature. This is the substance of a report brought back from the firing line by Maj. Gen. Charles Clement, U. S. A.

Mud was a source of considerable annoyance to the soldiers. So the engineering force of Australia devised what has become commonly known as the "duck board," but which the Canadians have named the "bath mat," both being terms of derision.

The board is made of a number of small strips of wood, 14 to 15 inches in length, which are nailed to stringers placed in front of one another and extending for miles. A step off the "duck board" means a plunge into a sea of mud at least three feet in depth.

The "board" was devised to enable the Australians to attack the Germans more successfully, and it served to provide a path to victory.—Popular Science Monthly.

Pure Water for Men in Trenches.

Filtered and sterilized water for the men in the trenches at all times is being provided by water trains, the war department announced.

Under the direction of the surgeon general's office sections held by the American forces where permanent waterworks have not been established will be fully supplied by these trains, which are in reality miniature waterworks that chemically treat, filter and sterilize all water used for drinking purposes. Each unit carries an expert chemist, bacteriologist and pumpman, and the water tanks are mounted on motortrucks equipped with powerful lights so that the work can be carried on at night.

"Ground in Hamburg."

One of the curious news outcroppings of the war comes from Sheffield, the home of English cutlery. A hollow-ground razor blade was exhibited, and stamped on the shoulder was the mark "Ground in Hamburg."

The explanation was that the British public believed the Germans did better work and demanded the German product, so the altruistic British workman gave the Germans the benefit of his own unrivaled skill, apparently unruffled by the attitude of his own countrymen.

NOT HIS THE FIELD

Wail of One Whom Fate Forbids to Carry Sword and Shield.

Hard His Lot, He Can't Get Old Bill Meundgott—But Here at Home Has All the Fun (?) While Others Fight to Crush the Hun.

The daily papers that I see all cry in tones of wonder, the praise of our fine lads in France who face the German thunder; and not a single day goes by but some kind friend will hail me, and with a two-inch line of type with gestures will assail me. "My friend," he cries, "the Yanks are there! And that big boob, the kaiser, will all too soon their anger feel, and sadder be and wiser! 'Twas only yesterday they took a mile or two of trenches; and soon in Berlin's parks they'll be, a-sitting on the benches!" Now, I don't grudge that praise a bit—I like to hear them boasted; I like to hear our boys in France get cheered and sung and toasted; I wish that I were over there and scratching at the vermin, and now and then from time to time I'd pot a husky German. I would that I might lie and snooze among the mud and thistles, and eat cold chow and hardtack moist where shrapnel screams and whistles. But since I can't be over there among my friends and neighbors I'll call respectful notice to my own emphatic labors. I do not heave a two-pound bomb across the German border; instead I plot a diagram and keep the room in order. I do not wear a hero's togs nor sport a hero's medal; instead I grade ten million logs and work the hot-air pedal. I do not help to crush the Hun with bayonet emphatic; but I explain the why and when of fields electrostatic. I can't at present strafe the Boche with shell and sword and fire, so I'm content to teach a class the ways of braided wire; and though I pause to envy those who share the fun heroic, I force myself to lesser tasks with an expression stoic. I do not much enjoy the job while I am wading through it, but, good or bad, the job is here and someone has to do it! Although I sit in peaceful ease, enjoying things delightful, I long for Flanders' mud and fleas and other tortures frightful. So while the papers cheer for those who fight beyond the ocean, I join with them my heart and voice and register emotion. I wish that I could be in France to battle for our nation; but meanwhile how about a bit of home appreciation? So I just mount a near-by chair, where those about can view it, and give three lusty cheers, since no one else will do it! At least if I must stay at home my courage is consistent; I'd rather be in France than here, a Theory Assistant!—Exchange.

Do Women of Voting Age Really Outnumber Men of Similar Ages?

By GEORGE B. CLOVER, New York

Is the day drawing near when American women will hold the principal offices and no longer figuratively but literally rule the nation?

Now that the feminine citizens of the Empire state are to join with their sisters in many other states of the Union as voters at the polls, the question has been propounded, What will the feminine voting strength of equal suffrage states be and how will the feminine vote affect the aggregate vote of the nation?

The question has received various answers from friends and enemies of equal rights among practical politicians and political theorists, but the first emphatic response, so far as New York state is concerned at least, will come when the citizenesses first march to the polls with fathers, husbands and brothers. And some surprises will come to many "antis" as well as "pros" when the women first do undergo that long-fought-for experience of dropping their ballots into the ballot box, and one of those surprises will be found in the voting strength of the feminine side of several prominent families.

In the statewide talkfest which helped to bring about the great event of November 6, 1917, in New York state, a feminine spellbinder was heard to say to a crowd of curious but very attentive men at Broadway and Forty-fourth street:

"Do you know that statistics show there are more women than men in the United States? Look out! Oh, you short-sighted men!"

Perhaps the cartoonist who pictured recently the mere men party leaders, hats in hand, presenting their compliments to the idealized feminine vote in a most obsequious manner heard that warning. At any rate, a mere man did, and he said to himself, "Right-o!" as he called to mind several leading families which can turn in a much larger feminine than masculine vote.

Do women of voting age really outnumber men of similar ages all over America? Will they some day unite their vote to seize all the offices and national control?

Avena Sativa Can Be Employed to Reduce Expenses of Household

By O. L. HALL, Chicago

A little camouflage is required to make oats an all-day food, and this camouflage is being prepared. Wearing a thin disguise, but scorning the refuge of anonymity, an alias, or the use of its handsome scientific name of Avena Sativa, the humble oat is in a fair way of associating itself with wheat and getting baked into the same war loaf.

What Americans are learning or are to learn in war will remain part of the knowledge of living when the war is no more. That is what the prophets say, and that's why, peering into the afterwhile, they predict a future increased reliance on the food grains.

The government is endeavoring to regulate, through countless committees of experts, the flow of food from its source to the consumer.

One of these assisting organizations is the corn milling committee, appointed by Food Administrator Hoover to organize mills and affiliated industries in the service of food conservation.

The extremely high prices of corn—it has run a mad race with wheat—have discouraged in a degree the milling of this plentiful grain.

Some of the larger millers engaging in a country-wide business and owning valuable trade-marks are said to have been selling package cornmeal at a loss, merely to hold their trade and keep up competition. But they expect the new crop of corn to reach them at $1.40 to $1.50 a bushel, which will enable them to get back on a more comfortable basis.

The estimate that 100,000,000 bushels of corn goes into food annually in this country does not tell the whole story.

It doesn't figure on the old ash barrels which stand behind thousands of cabins and farmhouses and drip the lye which converts maize into hominy. But it does take into account what passes through the mills.

And there are mills enough in this country to grind additional hundreds of millions of bushels. Few if any of them are running on a 24-hour basis. The milling committee will be able to have ground all the corn that all the pone bakers and johnnycake makers in America can use.

Tobacco Is for Soldier Who Acquired Habit Before Going to France

By PAUL J. HUGHES, Cleveland, Ohio

From the appeals that are being made for soldier tobacco funds one is likely to get the idea that no man can fight until he has had his tobacco ration. It should be emphasized that tobacco is for the soldier who has acquired the habit before going over, to him a necessity, and General Pershing has recognized this fact and ordered tobacco rations.

There are young recruits who never touched tobacco in their lives, have no craving for it and, in fact, would find difficulty in forming the habit. Now, teaching of the tobacco habit is not part of the military curriculum, but if the use of tobacco grows no boy of draft age will think he can be a good soldier until he gets a cigarette in his mouth.

Smoking is not a necessity to all men.

Reasons Why

A Series of Talks To Those Who Want To Grow
With Monessen.
NO. 1.

7 Reasons Why

It Will Pay You To Work and Live in Monessen.

1st. Because there is plenty of work here for everyone who wats to work.

2nd. Because Monessen employers pay as good wages, if not better than those in other cities.

3rd. Because homes are convenient, rents are modest, and living conditions are better here than in most other cities.

4th. Because we are aiming to get the best transportation service in the country. Get in and help to get it.

5th. Because the industries of Monessen offer permanent, steady employment, and encourage people to take an active interest in the civic affairs of the city. Your job is good as long as you make good in it.

6th. Because the wealth of this section is increasing at the rate of thousands of dollars each day, and Monessen is the logical trade center of this territory. Greater prosperity means more business and better salaries.

7th. Because, if there is one place in the whole wide world which can give Old High Cost of Living a Knock-out, it is Monessen. The sections nearby will with your help bring farm products into Monessen at prices which are 10 per cent to 40 per cent lower than those not so favorably located. Good roads and the "get together spirit" will do this.

Read these reasons over again. Think what they mean to you. And REMEMBER: TO THE STEADY WORKER WHO WANTS TO GET AHEAD IN THE WORLD. MONESSEN OFFERS UNLIMITED FUTURE.

Ask any of these prominent firms and individuals about the advantages of Monessen.

ONE reason why you should make Eddy your Druggist--he personally does all Rx work just as your physician orders TOO

BELIEVES IN TREATING ALL ALIKE

"This is no time to be hating each other for the love of God," exclaimed a Roman Catholic priest, when a newcomer from the tates remarked about his work in a Y. M. C. A. hut in England. This remark has gone up and down the American camps in France and England and typifies the spirit of Roman Catholics and Protestants alike in working for the common good of the American soldier.

At a great rest camp in England where thousands of American troops are sent after landing to rest for six or seven days before going on to France, a man, who back home, is a Presbyterian minister, may be heard urging Roman Catholic soldiers to make their confessions and to go to mass. More than that he arranges for the priest to visit the camp, turns his office over for a confessional and prepars the hut for mass at 9:30 on Sunday morning.

This man is the Rev. G. William Russell, who was asssitant pastor of Bethlehem Presbyterian church, Philadelphia. Here is a typical example of how he looks after the spiritual welfare of the Roman Catholics. It took place on a Friday evening.

Mrs. Watson of Detroit

Was Weak, Tired all the Time—Made Perfectly Well by Vinol

Detroit, Mich.—"I got into a weak, run-down condition, no appetite, tired all the time and headaches—but had to keep around and do my housework. I read about Vinol and tried it—within two weeks I commenced to improve and now have a splendid appetite and feel stronger and better in every way."—Mrs. John F. Watson.

There is no secret about Vinol.—It owes its success in such cases to beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptonates and glycerophosphates, the oldest and most famous strength creating tonics.—Hirsch Drug Co., Craig's drug store and druggists everywhere. It

BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You can Bring Back Color and Lustre with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take a glass of Salts to flush out Kidneys—Drink plenty water.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

GERMAN'S OPINION IS CHANGED

Secretary Daniels authorizes the following:

How the contemptuous opinion of the Germans for the fighting ability of American troops may be changed literally over night is shown in an extract from the diary of a German officer who was captured and taken into the American lines by the Marines. A translation of the diary has just been received at Marine Corps headquartrs.

Reserve Lieut. Tilmanns, th writer of the diary belonged to the Second Battalion of the Fortieth Regiment, (Baden Guards), Twenty-eighth Division. This was the fourth division which the Marines had against them in the fighting around Chateau-Thierry. The other three were so badly cut up that they could not carry out their orders to attack.

The extract from Lieut. Tillmann's diary follows:

"June 6th: Departure from Rocourt 3 p. m. to Breuyres further back Coiney. We had to move out of Rocourt becouse it did not belong to our sector. Rear is crammed full of troops. Billets, therefore, very scarce.

"June 7th: At the front. American troops have made counterattacks. We have to move to the front again. Route of march over Rocourt Epaux. We are lying in the woods to the right of Etripilly for the present, in position. In the night of 8th and 9th we will relieve the front line. It must be a sad outfit which allows itself to be thrown out by the Americans. In the evening of the days of th 8th, there was heavy artillery fire. Fortunately the artillery fire did not reach us.

"June 8th to 9th: Moved forward at night and relieved the 461st Regiment at 4 in the morning in the Bois de Belleau. Incomprehensibly wide sector. Where there were three companies, we have only one.

"June 9th to 10th: The worst night of my life. I am lying in the thick woods on an open height in little holes behind rocks, for this is heavy artillery fire, until 6 o'clock in the morning. It is a wonder that the fellows were all at their posts when the Americans attacked. The attack, thank God, was repulsed. God has again mercifully preserved me."

The diary ends abruptly as the next day the writer was a prisoner in the hands of the Americans.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. SOLDIER IN THE MIDST OF BATTLE

Rev. J. Eugene Dietterick, pastor of the English Lutheran church, has received the following interesting letter from his son, Lieut. C. D. Dietterich:

On the Firing Line,
Somewhere in France, July 5.

Dear Father—This is the first opportunity I have had to get mail out for some time and the first real chance to write to you. I have been thinking about you a great deal since I got to France and where I am just now, a man thinks a great deal of God and his people, and little else. I certainly was railroaded through to the front in record time. Here I am in the thick of the thing in the busiest sector in France and only in uniform two months and out of the states one. Most of the rest of the men from my country who went out months before I did are still home.

I wish I could tell you all about myself, but of course I dare not. If I could have you here just about fifteen minutes (that would be enough) so you could see it. No one can know anything about it unless they are through it. I certainly am thankful that the Atlantic is between you and all my loved ones in the states and this.

I think that the turning point has come and that Germany will soon see the folly of her ways but it must be an unconditional surrender and that will mean terrible fighting for some time yet. From where I am I can just see a huge observation balloon over our lines. Every now and then it comes hastily down as German aircraft approach. Saw an air fight this afternoon. I have only been in France three weeks but have seen the worst of it. I have been shot from one place to another but think I am now permanently located with the 103rd ambulance company.

I had to stop and do some work at headquarters and now I am about ready to fall in for the night. It is very noisy and a heavy barrage is going on to the left. Well Pop, this letter has been through a real one. They got our range and a shell broke just overhead. If I had been in the middle of a word, that word would have been all over the page. We had to scurry for substenance quarters. The bombardment lasted about half an hour but they made no direct hits. To show how used I am to it, I fell asleep as soon as the noise quieted down and slept until daylight. The shells are gentlemen, in a way, for like rattlesnakes they warn you before they explode by a long high pitched shriek, giving you time to get flat before they go off.

Well now, I will close and write when I get a chance to get mail through. This work I am on now is very mobile so we jump from one place to another. I enjoy it, but it is the most exposed work of the line. I will do my duty however, wherever I am, take no useless risks but do what I should do. My division is an old one in the service and the best. They work us too hard on that account.

With lots of love, I try to remain, a true soldier son.

1st Lieut. Chas. D. Diettrick, M.R.C.,
103 Ambulance Co.,

Brave Act Rewarded.

Arthur G. Palmer, a water tender attached to the United States ship O'Brien was overboard and struggling in the water. A strong ebb tide was running and Palmer had all he could do to keep from going down. At the moment when he was near exhaustion David Goldman, a machinist's mate, second class, jumped overboard and, beating his way through the rough water, reached the man and brought him to safety. He has been commended by the secretary of the navy for this action. Goldman enlisted in the navy in 1911 at San Francisco.

Concrete Ship in Norway.

Commercial Agent Norman L. Anderson reports the launching of a 600-ton concrete ship from the Fougner yards at Moss, Norway. The ship has four water-tight compartments: the engine, a 220 horsepower Bolinder motor, is placed aft. The boat has two large holds and two hatches, each equipped with a two-ton motor which

Remember the Operator—The "Soldier" of the Switchboard

THE operator is human; she makes mistakes, though not frequently. She has womanly feelings and qualities and is affected by kind or sharp words as any one of us. She has swung a tremendous war-made telephone traffic in a way to put many who boast of their war-time activities to blush—and she is still at it, holding down the job like a "man" or "woman," as you please.

This young woman, with her nimble fingers and keen mind, is weaving the talk threads so necessary in our present great National task; she is to be regarded as human and not as a machine.

The stress of these rush days, the wear and tear and grind, sometimes tell on our nerves and are reflected in our manner as we telephone. It should not be, for these are times, surely when the "voice with a smile wins."

Let us all remember the telephone operator and the part she is playing, and be gentle and courteous in our relations with her.
